5000 Facts About Canada

The public will welcome the 1918 Edition of "5000 Facts about Canada," compiled by Frank Yeagin, the acknowledged authority on things Canadian and the author of "Through the Heart of Canada." Ten thousand copies are now sold annually, which find their way all over Canada and the Empire, indeed the world.

The booklet is issued at 25 cents a copy, by the Canadian Facts Pub. Co., 588 Huron Street, Toronto, and is sold by all the leading newsdealers.

The Observer

Storm and flood caused the loss of at least 3000 lives in the middle western states, Ohio, Indiana and in some adjoining states. Dayton, Ohio, suffered from flood and then from fire. It is the most disastrous storm on record.

E. L. Richardson, hustling secretary of Alberta Live Stock Association says it is reasonable to suppose that the demand for heavy horses in Western Canada will be good, and prices remunerative for many years to come.

Before killing any more calves, or selling calves for slaughter, consider the following facts: The number of calves slaughtered in the United States in the last decade has increased by 100 per cent. In 1911 there were 8,000,000 calves slaughtered at an average of 70 lbs. If they had been allowed to live one year they would have averaged 600 lbs., or a grand total of 4,800,000,000 lbs. of beef, instead of only 560,000,000 lbs. According to a conservative estimate these 4,000,000,000 extra pounds of meat would furnish a city of 850,000 population with its total meat supply for over 50 years. In South America this danger has been recognized, and laws are in force providing a severe penalty for the slaughter of heifers or cows under six years of age. One can scarcely conceive the tremendous increase which would be effected in Alberta if the breeders prevented the slaughter of calves. Think over the calamity of a province like Alberta permitting New Zealand butter to be sold in large quantities throughout the province, and even in Toronto; then don't kill the calves.

It is a positive fact that on the average from 50 to 100 sheep will produce the largest returns, for the food consumed, of any living animal. About the only thing missing will be the weeds and rough feed, which would probably not be utilized otherwise. Yet we continue to make large importations from far distant countries to supply our table with mutton.

We frequently say, "What's in a name." We can depend upon it, however, that the hog had to earn his title, and, before, becoming known as "the mortgage-lifter," was the means of bringing happiness to many a home.

A few months ago a large commission firm purchased 75 carloads of eggs in a day, and yet did not have sufficient to supply their orders. Hundreds of thousands of good Alberta dollars are sent to Eastern Canada and the United States each year for eggs and poultry. Oats at 20c.; wheat at less than 50c.; eggs selling at from 20c. to 50c. a dozen, and poultry from 15c. to 25c. a pound, there must be a handsome margin of profit in a country particularly for the economical raising of poultry. If the farmers of Alberta would each keep from 50 to 200 hens, the money now sent out of the province would remove anxiety and want from many a home, and now provide luxuries now considered out of the question. We should be supplying eggs and poultry in carloads to points outside of Alberta.

become mixed farmer and stock-raiser as rapidly as his means would permit, the day of cheap grain would soon disappear, the productiveness of our farms would increase, and the tillers of the soil in Alberta would be the most prosperous and contented people in Canada.

Several titled society women of London and other parts of England, attracted by the high prices paid for black fox pelts, are coming to Edmonton this spring to engage in fox-breeding in central and northern Alberta. They are prepared to make large investments. If the venture is successful it is likely that women who have hitherto devoted their attention to prize dogs and horses will engage in the new industry.

Eight black fox skins, each valued at $1,500, were sold in Edmonton last week by trappers from the north country. Fifty-four thousand dollars worth of silver fox pelts were sold last season. J. L. Cote, representing the Athabasca district in the provincial parliament, said in the course of an address the other day that the fur industry in Alberta was a matter of 1,000,000 in 1912, muskrats heading the list with $400,000.

Advices have been received from London that the spring immigration to Western Canada this year will be largest in the history of the British Isles. Steamship officials report that all the second class accommodations for April ships have been booked and that many will have to wait until May. Most of the prospective settlers, the advance guard of which arrived in Edmonton today in a party of 217, will engage in grain and mixed farming in the prairie provinces. Some will go to British Columbia. Immigration authorities here also report there will be a large influx of homeseekers from the eastern and central states, as well as from the maritime provinces. The provincial government has provided a contingent fund of $10,000 for the purpose of furnishing medical attendance in the new settlements of Alberta not served by resident physicians.

Second Accident

A second accident in the switching yards last week, resulted in the damaging of two freight cars and the loss of a hundred or two bushels of wheat and oats. During the course of a flying switch the braking apparatus on a car failed to work with the result of sending the car full speed down the siding, jumping into two other cars which were being loaded at the time in front of the Tervillages and National elevators. The end of the first car collided with was smashed to smithereens while the man loading the car at the time, was knocked senseless for a few minutes.

The Secret Marriage

By Alfred Wilson Barrett

Ward, Lock & Co., Limited
London, Melbourne & Toronto.

Well, what is it? came her voice. I want to see Professor Wicks, said Easton, rather taken aback.

What is your business, said the old woman.

I have come for some boxing lessons. Is not that what this place is for? returned the Major, sternly. The face disappeared without his owner giving a reply, but in a few seconds the door opened wide, and the old woman appeared at full length. Come inside, sir, she said more graciously. The Professor will see you in a minute.

Easton followed her along a dark passage and into a little office, where she left him surrounded by pictures of the Professor in various attitudes, and of, apparently, the Professor's progeny performing numerous athletic feats.

Presently a sound of feet shod with indiarubber shoes made itself heard along the passage, and the door, opening, a man appeared—in full boxing kit.

He was a jolly-looking, broken-nosed athletic fellow of forty or so, glossy with fitness, and Easton's first thought was that if Violet was there it was not so bad as it might have been; his second, a hurried speculation as to what kind of a time Neil was going to have in keeping this man busy while he, the Major, looked round the house.

Good evening, sir, said the Professor cheerily. You have just come at the right time. I'm free now. You want some sparring practice? Have you got your shoes and things with you?

I am afraid I haven't, said Easton, but perhaps you can lend me some shoes that will do for today.

The Professor cast an experienced eye over the Major's well-knit figure. Yes, I fancy I can let you have everything you want, he said. Come this way, if you please, sir.

And he led the Major down another passage, through a large room, with a roped and padded ring in the centre and tiers of chairs around, and up some stairs into a dingy bedroom.

There's a dressing-room downstairs, he said, but you wouldn't like that, perhaps, for we have all sorts here. I keep this room for gentlemen whom I give special lessons to.

Evidently, thought the Major, whose quick eye had caught sight of Harbrow's box on a chair by the window. And he felt a little thrill. Was Rivington there, and was Violet?

The Professor had already rummaged out half a dozen pairs of various sized gymnasium shoes, and several pairs of ridiculously inadequate slippers when the sound of a bell pealed through the house.

The Professor looked up. Excuse me for a moment, sir, he said. There is some one at the front door and I have sent my old woman out on an errand. I must step down to see who it is. Perhaps you can fit yourself out of this lot, he continued, placing the various articles before the Major.

The latter nodded quickly. Yes, I shall be able to manage perfectly, he said, seizing a pair of the shoes and pretending to measure them with his foot. I will find my way down when I am ready, shall I?

If you don't mind, sir, you will find me in the gymnasium downstairs, first door on the left. Have you got everything you want?

Everything, yes, quite, said Easton eagerly. I shall manage, and I can find my way down perfectly. You go on.

At least I hope I shall, he continued as the door closed on the Professor. If only that is Neil, and if only I can get a few minutes to myself.

He found himself on a landing from which led three other rooms, all sleeping apartments, as a hasty glance showed him, and evidently devoted to the Professor and the members of his family. There was nothing of any interest there.

He looked round him. From the landing two staircases led downwards. Up one of these he had come with the Professor. He chose the other and crept quietly down it. Soon he reached a landing with two rooms, both empty, from which led a long and badly lighted passage.

That place is like a rabbit-warren, thought the Major, but it seems an empty one, for there isn't a sound, in this part of it at least.

The passage ended at a door and this door the Major soon discovered was locked. He began to feel more cheerful. A locked door meant something to disguise. It was the first good sign he had met. But it was locked. Could he open it?

Quickly he stopped and examined the keyhole. Then he breathed again. The key was in the lock on the other side and a tiny end of it projected through in his direction.

The Major was a man of resource, and some knowledge, and this slight made his spirits revive. In his knife a knife that had seen him through several campaigns, he had a pair of pliers. Was this knife in his pocket? Yes it was. Were the pliers strong enough. Yes, they were. He caught the projecting end of the key with them, got a grip, held his breath and twisted. For a moment the lock groaned and the pliers squeaked; then the key turned, he seized the handle, and the door opened.

CHAPTER XIX

The Major found himself in another passage—the rabbit-warren seemed full of them—but a very different passage to the former ones. This was well lighted, warm, cheerful and carpeted, and the Major noted with a thrill that the things it contained seemed new.

Before him were two doors, both closed. He held his breath and listened.

And then from one of the rooms facing him he seemed to catch the rustle of a woman's dress, and he felt his heart beat fast. The strange instinct that comes to us sometimes, and makes us certain of things we could not otherwise have knowledge of, told him that behind the door which faced him he should find Violet at last, and his face flushed with excitement.

Then he stepped forward and knocked softly.

For a moment there was no sound. Then the door opened gently, but wide. It was a woman in nurse's costume who had replied to his summons, and she faced him, mutely asking a question, but Easton took no notice of her but the first hasty glance. He was looking past her, over her shoulder, into the room beyond, to the bed where Violet lay asleep—for it was Violet who lay there—he felt he had known it all along. And as he looked at her she woke.

How it happened, Easton hardly knew but in a moment he had passed the horrified and protesting nurse, and was kneeling by Violet's side, holding her little hand in his, and pressing his lips to it for the first time in both their lives, kissing it with the passion and the reverence with which we kiss a woman's hand the first time that she gives it us.

Had Violet given hers? Yes, Easton knew she had. Her blush had given it, the glad look in her eyes had given it.

Violet, he murmured. My poor, poor little darling. For a moment both were silent, then Easton raised his head. That scoundrel! he said. Violet, has he ill-treated you? Tell me; my darling, tell me.

The young girl shook her head, trying to smile, though the tears were shining on her long lashes, and falling to her cheek.

No, I am well looked after, she said quickly. Nurse is so kind and sweet. I have been very, very ill. I was hurt in an accident in a motor-car that day they took me away. But I am better, I am getting better.

She was about to continue when the nurse, recovering from her amazement, stepped forward and stopped her.

Hush, hush, you must not talk of those things, dear, and you must not get excited. This gentleman—sir, I must really beg you—

DRUGGED HIMSELF IN TUNNEL

Former English Army Officer Discovers Dead in Rather Strange Circumstances

London, England.—An ex-army officer's unsuccessful struggle to cure himself of the drug habit was described at an inquest at Guston, Dover, on Claude W. Lawrence Marshall, aged 41, of independent means, whose body was found in a railway tunnel. A broken hypodermic syringe and two empty drug bottles were found near the body. Dr. Marshall was formerly an officer in the South Staffordshire regiment.

Mrs. Marshall stated that her husband had been addicted to the drug habit for several years, taking morphine and cocaine. He broke off the habit last year for a time, but could not do without the drugs, and resumed them. She had known him to go into this railway tunnel for the purpose of injecting morphine into his leg. He went into the tunnel because it was dark there, and he objected to making the injections in the light. He told her once that after he had injected morphine into his leg in the tunnel he became unconscious on the bridge just above. She thought that on this occasion he might have become unconscious in the tunnel. She once found him unconscious in a pit as a result of the drug. Mrs. Marshall added that her husband was very bright and showed no signs of suicide.

Evidence as to the finding of the body pointed to the fact that Mr. Marshall had his back against the wall of the railway tunnel and was leaning down injecting morphine into his leg when the train struck him; or else that he had made the injection and lost consciousness at that position at the time of the fatality.

It was said that members of Dover police force had frequently seen Mr. Marshall in the vicinity of the spot injecting morphine. It was mentioned that he had injected as much as sixty grains of morphine at a time.

The jury returned a verdict of death by misadventure.

THE KNOW HOW

To Feed Children and Get Good Results
There are more nervous persons made so by indigestible food lying in the stomach than the average individual would suppose.

If food remains undigested in the stomach, it begins to ferment, set up gas and a large portion is thus converted into poison.

That's why imperfectly digested food, may, and often does, cause irritation of the nerves and stupor of the mind—brain and nerves are really poisoned.

"My daughter had complained for some time of a distressed feeling in the stomach, after eating, which set me thinking that her diet was not right," writes an anxious and intelligent mother.

"She had been fond of cereals, but had never tried Grape-Nuts. From reading the account of this predigestion food, it seemed reasonable to try Grape-Nuts for her case."

The results were really wonderful. The little brain that seemed at times unable to do its work, took on new life and vigor. Every morning, now, before going to school, she eats the crisp little morsels and is now completely and entirely well, she seems to have a new lease on life—no more distress in the stomach, nor headache, but sound and well every way."

JURY ACQUIT A MURDERER

The Unwritten Law Viewed in France From Standpoint of Approval
Paris, France.—The assize court at Dijon, tried a farmer named Ernest Gauthier for the murder of a neighbor named Pufex, whom he surprised with his wife. Gauthier dealt his rival two blows with a spade and the man died the next day. The farmer also attacked his wife and then gave himself up to the police. Mme. Gauthier committed suicide a few days later.

At the trial, the judge mildly reproached Gauthier, and informed him that it would have been easy for him to obtain a divorce.

Addressing the jury, the public prosecutor said: Give him a few weeks in prison, a few days for the principle. After examining the facts and emphasizing the shortcomings of the dead woman, he concluded: Having regard to all the circumstances, would it not be better for you to exercise your sovereign right and pardon the accused?

The jury after a brief deliberation brought in a verdict of acquittal.

MYSTERIOUS MIDNIGHT TRAGEDY
Missing Artilleryman, Believed to Have Been Murdered by Two Bluejackets

Malta.—At somewhere about midnight on Thursday two Maltese boatmen reported to the police that two bluejackets and an artilleryman had embarked on their craft for conveyance from Valetta to Siema, and that when in mid-sea the sailors and the soldier quarreled, the former throwing the artilleryman overboard. A high sea was running at the time and the sailors, by intimidation, prevented the boatmen from attempting to rescue the soldier.

Op-reaching the shore the sailors departed, and the boatmen then returned to the spot where the soldier had been thrown overboard, but as their search proved fruitless they reported the matter to the police. All sailors' leave was stopped, and the boatmen were conveyed on board each warship and confronted with the men who had been given shore leave the previous night.

Both boatmen in turn identified William John Payne and Albert Woodcock, both able seamen belonging to the Royal Arthur, which arrived here on Friday en route for China. They missing artilleryman is Gunner Hourthorne, of 65 Company of the Royal Garrison Artillery. He is 22 years old.

Both Payne and Woodcock have been arrested, and the Royal Arthur's departure has been delayed pending the magisterial inquiry, which is proceeding. Both prisoners have admitted having been in the boat in which a quarrel arose, saying that they made this statement because leave of all men had been stopped. Consequently they did not wish to sacrifice other men.

One of the prisoners in his statement to the ship's commander said: The soldier hit me and I hit him, and being drunk he overbalanced and fell out of the boat in the sea. Several witnesses from the Royal Arthur are being heard, and afterward the inquiry will be adjourned and the Royal Arthur will sail. The prisoners having admitted being on the boat will be remanded.

They Wanted to Hear it
Now, children, said the teacher to her kindergarten class, I want you all to be very quiet, so quiet in fact, that you could hear a pin drop.

Everything had quieted down nicely and the teacher was about to speak when a little voice in the rear of the school room squeaked forth: Go ahead, please, teacher, and let her drop.

Clean Stomach, Clear Mind.—The stomach is the workshop of the vital functions and when it gets out of order the whole system clogs in sympathy. The spirits flag, the mind droops and work becomes impossible. The first care should be to restore healthful action of the stomach and the best preparation for that purpose is Farmacia's Vegetable Pills. General ulcer of the stomach has won them a leading place in medicine. A trial will attest their value.

TRIES TO STRANGLE JUDGE

Jurist Has Terrible Struggle With Camorrist He Had Just Sentenced

Naples.—An attempt has recently been made by a Camorrist prisoner to strangle a judge at the Naples criminal court recently. Two members of the Neapolitan Camorra, Spalanza and Guadagni, were found guilty of theft, and were each sentenced to sixteen months' imprisonment.

Immediately sentence was pronounced the prisoner Guadagni, a man of Herculean proportions, felled the two carabinieri who were on guard and escaped from the iron cage in which he was confined. He dashed toward the judge, and blacked the eye of a lawyer who attempted to stop him, while two ushers each received a blow on the nose.

There was a wild stampede from the court, and the president rose and wrapped himself in his robes as though uncertain whether to beat a retreat. The infuriated Camorrist clambered up to the judicial bench with amazing agility, and seized the assistant judge nearest to him, Cavallero Vitelli, by the throat and attempted to throttle him. Both fell to the floor in the desperate struggle. Barristers and policemen endeavored to separate them, but several minutes elapsed before the grip of the prisoner could be released, and the man put in chains. The unfortunate judge when released was in a state of collapse.

The Shrinker
If you don't do your share of work in the world the chances are that some one else will have to do it for you. But you won't draw his overtime or secure his promotions, or those that might have been yours had you tried. There is a good deal of justice in the world, regardless of what the croakers and malcontents may tell you, and the shrinker, in dodging his work, misses his pay, which goes to a better man who will probably prosper and be called a thief because he attended to business and was industrious and polite. His compensation lies in the knowledge of work well done, as well as the material reward, and somewhat, perhaps, in the fact that the opinion of his detractors may not be so important after all.

The Shrinker
If you don't do your share of work in the world the chances are that some one else will have to do it for you. But you won't draw his overtime or secure his promotions, or those that might have been yours had you tried. There is a good deal of justice in the world, regardless of what the croakers and malcontents may tell you, and the shrinker, in dodging his work, misses his pay, which goes to a better man who will probably prosper and be called a thief because he attended to business and was industrious and polite. His compensation lies in the knowledge of work well done, as well as the material reward, and somewhat, perhaps, in the fact that the opinion of his detractors may not be so important after all.

NEW TYPE OF SUBMARINE

England Has Designs of Vessels Capable of Crossing the Atlantic

London, England.—Naval development of a remarkable nature is taking place under the cloak of great secrecy. In the course of the next twelve months some astonishing details will become known regarding the changes in warship types, but there will be none more noteworthy than the development of the submarine.

An entirely new type of underwater craft, of considerable offensive power and capable of crossing the Atlantic at a high rate of speed, is being built for the British navy.

These craft will carry guns, but in addition they will have a broadside of torpedo tubes. Hitherto underwater craft have only mounted a couple, or at the most three tubes. The submarines of the E class were provided with four, but the newest vessels, it is understood, are designed to carry four twelve 21-inch tubes. That is to say, they will be able to fire eight torpedoes.

The displacement of the new ships is at present a matter of secrecy; in some circles it is put at 1500 tons, in others much higher, but there is general agreement that the speed will not be less than twenty-five knots on the surface, which is the speed of the torpedo-boat destroyer of eight years ago. An armored belt and anti-aircraft guns will be other features of the new type and they will, of course, be driven by internal combustion engines.

From this brief outline of the qualities of the new type it is at once apparent that the functions of the torpedo-boat destroyer are being assumed by the submarine.

It is not probable that the destroyer will at once drop out of our ship-building program. The new vessels are at present experimental, and must remain so for a couple of years or more.

In the meantime there are plans before the admiralty for a new kind of destroyer, plans for which may lead to an unprecedented move in regard to the contracting for the building of warships, and may give us a flotilla of above-water craft of a speed of forty knots and carrying several heavy quick-firing guns, specially mounted for use against air-craft.

Side by side with these new types of submarines there will be built a number of small underwater vessels for purely coastal defense purposes. The first of these, at present called the X, is being built by Scott's Shipbuilding and Engineering Company at Greenock. This is a craft of only some 300 tons, with a surface speed of thirteen knots, similar to that of our earliest submarines.

More ships of each of these types will be allowed for in the forthcoming navy estimate.

A further batch of the new kind of cruisers, which Mr. Churchill last year described as light-armored, will also be allowed for. Eight of them are to be laid down during the year, differing only in minor details from the ships now building.

Particulars of the design of the new battleships—or, as they will in future come to be called, capital ships—are naturally not available for publication. There is every indication that they will be in most respects similar to the Queen Elizabeths of the current program, carrying eight of the 15-inch guns that throw a 1950 pound shell. They will have only oil fuel for steam-raising purposes and among their batteries will be a number of 3-inch guns on verticle mountings for use against aircraft.

A New Calendar

The calendar and the hours of the day seem to many of us almost like part of the natural and immutable order of things, and however much trouble the present indefensible system has caused, men have felt that it was rash—almost impious—to suggest a change of it. Give us back our eleven days, cried the mob when the Gregorian calendar was introduced into Great Britain. From the days of Julius Caesar to our own, he has been a bold reformer indeed who would suggest changes in the disorderly procession of the months. Now enters Moses B. Cotsworth of Victoria, B.C., with a proposal for a rational calendar. He would divide the year into thirteen months, each of twenty-eight days, which would leave one extra day in the year, and this he beautifully plans as a free day for every one—free from interest charges on money, the necessity to work, the wage scale, etc. Then each month would commence on Sunday and the first, eighth, fifteenth and twenty-second days of each month would be Sundays. President Hadley of Yale is quoted as saying that the month of four weeks will come as a commercial necessity. The adjustment to the chance would be very small compared to that necessitated when standard time was introduced on transcontinental railways. Mr. Cotsworth has literature to distribute, pecking fun at the present system. If he wins, school children need no longer learn: Thirty days hath September.

The Growth of English

There are now 400,000 words in the English dictionary, exclusive of foreign languages. Back three centuries Shakespeare carried about in his head five times as many words as the dictionary then contained. Today it has a hundred words for every one which a good writer will use. The greatest gains in the number of words recorded within the last fifty years have, of course, come from a minute raking over of all accessible English documents and from special branches of human labor, particularly the sciences, in which changing conditions have made necessary hosts of new names.

Princess Confirmed

London.—Princess Mary, the only daughter of King George and Queen Mary, was confirmed by the Archbishop of Canterbury in the Chapel Royal at Buckingham Palace recently. All the members of the royal family and many members of the household and servants of the palace were present. Large crowds assembled outside the palace to witness the arrival of the Queen Mother Alexandra.

THEATROGERS WIN STRIKE

Takes Just Nine Seconds for Manager to Surrender

Sydney.—Theatrogoers of Mount Gambier, in South Australia, went on strike recently.

The management of a travelling company demanded 2s. for admission. The visitors did not propose to pay more than 1s. and after a hasty consultation outside the entrance formed a theatrogoers' union. Pickets were stationed and within a few minutes 278 people—practically all who were there—had agreed not to pay the 2s.

The manager appeared at the doorway and refused to make the required reduction.

"I'll give you till I count twenty said the newly elected president of the newest union, and after that our price will be 6d. instead of 1s. He counted slowly to nine and then the manager capitulated."

The strike was declared at an end and the quondam strikers trooped into the hall, and the union was dissolved after an existence of about twenty minutes.

Needles in China

The importation of needles at Chungking last year increased by 31,963,000 to 234,700,000. In many parts of the Province these are put to a use that is not, perhaps, generally known. It is customary to ornament the center of the roof ridge of a Chinese house with an elaborate plaster decoration—usually in the form of a design embodying the character for, meaning happiness. To prevent this being damaged by the depredations of crows, large numbers of needles are stuck point outwards into the plaster while it is still soft.

MARCH WEATHER
RHEUMATIC WEATHER

Victims Can Cure Themselves With Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

With the coming of March people who are afflicted with rheumatism begin to have unpleasant reminders of their trouble. The weather is changeable—balmy and springlike one day, raw, cold and piercing the next. It is such sudden changes of weather that sets the pangs and tortures of rheumatism, lumbago and sciatica going. But it must be borne in mind that although weather conditions start the pains, the trouble is deeply rooted in the blood, and can only be cured through the blood. All the lotions and liniments in the world can't cure rheumatism. Rubbing may seem to ease the pain while you are rubbing, but there it value ends. Only through the blood can you cure rheumatism. That's why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have so many thousands of cures of this trouble to their credit. The new rich blood which they actually make drives out the poisonous acid and rheumatism is vanquished. Among many sufferers from rheumatism who have been cured by this medicine is Miss Mary B. Kelly, South Dummer, Ont. Miss Kelly says: "Some time ago I had a very bad attack of rheumatism. At times I would be confined to bed for a couple of days and would seem almost paralyzed with the intense pain in my back and legs. At such times I could not walk and my joints were stiff and swollen. I consulted different doctors and took their medicine, but did not get more than temporary relief. At this time a neighbor advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I got a supply. After taking a few boxes I found they were greatly helping me, and I continued their use until the trouble completely disappeared. I can strongly recommend this medicine to others who suffer as I did from the pangs and tortures of rheumatism."

If you suffer from rheumatism, or any other disease of the blood, begin to cure yourself today with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Ease That Sore Joint
Nerviline Will Do It

The Champion Clog and Pedestal Dancer of Canada Tells How to Keep in Trim

Few men in his profession are better known than Mr. Thomas Hogan, of 27 Fortification Lane, Montreal, who writes:—"To limber up a stiff joint, to remove every sense of soreness from tired muscles I can tell you nothing compares with Nerviline. It is really a wonderful liniment, and I use it continually simply because I find it keeps the muscles and joints supple and entirely free from pain and stiffness. I earnestly recommend Nerviline to every person that requires to use a strong, penetrating, pain-subduing liniment."

For Rheumatism Nerviline is a wonder; for Sciatica it cures where others fail; for Lumbago, stiffness and cold, nothing surpasses it. Keep Nerviline handy—it's good to take inwardly, destroys internal pains quickly, and is just as good for outward application. Large family size bottle, 50c; small size, 25c; at all drugkeepers and druggists or The Catarhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y.

I would like to talk to you about your typewriter, said the suave young salesman when he had been admitted to the private office of the magnate.

Well, what have you got to say? How do you like the ones you have? Are they giving perfect satisfaction? I don't know anything about them. I have no time to consider such things.

But they play an important part in your business. I should think you would want to be sure that you had the best.

Talk to the general manager. I have no time to discuss typewriters with you. I never saw but one typewriter that interested me.

What kind of a silo will yours be?

Wood—or Concrete?

If you were to build two silos—one of wood, the other of concrete—side by side, and then could see them as they will look after five years of service, you wouldn't have to think twice to decide which is the best material. In a few years more there wouldn't be much of the original wooden silo left—the repairing you'd have to do would be as troublesome and cost as much as the building of an entirely new one. But the passage of five, ten, fifteen or even twenty years will make no difference to the hard-as-rock wall of the concrete silo.

CONCRETE SILOS LAST FOREVER

WIND, rain, fire, and lightning are alike defied by concrete. You need no insurance against its destruction, because it cannot be destroyed. Concrete silos are best for another reason. The concrete keeps the ensilage at an even temperature, so that it "cures" better, and therefore contains more food-value for your stock.

YOU CAN BUILD ONE YOURSELF

No matter whether you have ever used concrete or not, you can build a concrete silo. Our book, "What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete," gives all the information you will need, not only about silos, but about scores of other uses for concrete on the farm. It isn't a catalogue, nor an advertising circular. A handsome book of 160 pages, well illustrated, and written for farmers. It is free. Just send your name and address on a postcard or in a letter and the book will be sent free by return mail.

GOLF AT OLYMPIC GAMES

English Cricket, However, Is Rejected at Berlin

Berlin.—Golf will appear for the first time in the Olympic Games program at Berlin in 1936. The schedule of events just drawn up by the German managerial committee states that the committee has decided to include golf after rejecting cricket. The committee has also determined as a special compliment to the great German gymnastic organizations, to give gymnastic experts a special place in the program for an exhibition of this German specialty. The team will also meet in competition gymnasts from other countries.

Pretty, but Useless

Mrs. Hugh Fraser tells a story of a holiday spent in an out of the way part of Italy.

She had occasion to reward a countryman for some service with a gold coin. Apparently he had never seen such a thing before, for he looked at it dubiously for a moment and then said: It is very pretty, but I think I would rather have money, please.

When the same sum was counted out to him in silver he took it with loud protestations of gratitude and went away feeling, apparently, like a millionaire.

The actions of the man behind the big bass drum speak louder than his words.

are the principles which have determined all recent improvements of the Remington Typewriter

Take, for example, that latest exclusive Remington improvement, the TABULATOR SET KEY

The Set Key of the Decimal Tabulator eliminates all hand setting of the Tabulator stops. It makes the setting of the stops any kind of form or tabulation of the Tabulator itself.

This is another important, labor saving step toward the goal of Remington effort, which is to bring every essential act in the operation of the typewriter within the compass of the keyboard. The labor saving value of the Set Key of the Model 11 Remington is attested by thousands of operators.

The Herald Square Entertainers, though playing to an extremely small house, presented a first-class entertainment. Many of the numbers were humorous in the extreme and the bill as a whole was beyond criticism.

Well Attended

The Easter services were well attended. The cold weather militated against a very large attendance.

The arrangement of the flowers was the best there has been. In front of the pulpit, a large table held a gorgeous array of flowers and ferns.

It was worth travelling far to see the beautiful collection of Easter lilies, narcissi, stocks, ferns, etc.

The musical arrangements were complete also. Some of the classic Easter hymns were rendered and much appreciated by those present.

The sermons were of a high order also the Easter Theme. The grace of the dead, to him, and the grace of the Living Christ. A comparison and contrast, being well handled by the pastor.

The church is greatly indebted to Mr. Lindsay for the gift of flowers and also for the musical program.

Independent Farmers

Reid Hill, April 1—The Independent Farmers Party met in convention at the Marshall school house last week for the purpose of nominating an independent Farmers Candidate to contest the Little Bow constituency. The school was crowded by representatives from all parts of the constituency, mostly farmers, who are alive to the opportunity thus afforded to show their condemnation of the opposing parties. Mr. T. A. Bryant, ex-president of the Sunny Glen Union, was unanimously chosen to carry the banner. If the enthusiasm and optimism that pervaded the Convention is any forerunner of the election, the farmers will no longer be accused of want of interest in politics. Mr. Bryant, in a brief address, stated his firm stand for direct legislation as embodied in the initiative referendum and recall.

Mr. McNaughton, the Liberal nominee, was present and gave a short address; also Mr. Cassidy, an organizer for the Socialist party, who made a short impassioned plea for their proposed candidate, but the Convention, composed of the best known and most influential farmers in the constituency, stood firmly for an independent candidate.

If the base ball fans will express their intentions to Jim Rowe he will have some idea as to whether we will have a team this year. "Curly" is some pitcher.

"The Only Cure for Piles"

Writes Mr. Taylor in Telling His Experience With Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Because Dr. Chase's Ointment brings almost immediate relief from the dreadful itching, burning, stinging sensations of piles, it is well worth the attention of everyone suffering from this annoying disease.

In most cases, even after years of standing, Dr. Chase's Ointment makes a thorough and lasting cure of itching, bleeding and protruding piles. Mr. Maxwell Taylor, Charlotetown, P.E.I., writes: "To all sufferers from piles in any form I would recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment as the only cure. Over a year ago while in Boston I became afflicted with a dreadful itching. I went to a doctor, who gave me some ointment, which made me no better. A friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and by the use of two boxes I was entirely cured. You may publish this statement in order that other sufferers may profit by my experience." Dr. Chase's Ointment can better prove its value by the relief it affords than by all the words we could use in its praise. 50 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

EX-SULTAN'S OPINION OF WOMEN

Turkish Woman His Ideal of What the Fair Sex Should Be Like

Berlin, Germany.—Further interesting memoirs of Abdul Hamid, the pious ex-sultan of Turkey, are published in the March number of Nord und Sud. By the courtesy of Professor Ludwig Stein, the editor, I am able to give the following extracts:

The memoirs deal principally with religious and moral questions. Abdul Hamid was in the habit every day during his long reign of dictating for some thirty minutes his private thoughts to Ah Bahad Bey, and the present publication is taken from this work. The memoirs have been translated from the original into German by Herr Heinz Böhmer, the Turkish consul in Berlin. Speaking of the status of women, the ex-sultan says:

Every man who has sense will deplore with me that women are given too much freedom, that they rule the streets, while men are slowly drifting to be their servants. I understand this is the case in America. Why do Europeans criticize our women? Are Turkish women not prettier and more moral than others. In our country the woman belongs to the household, and belongs to one man alone. In Europe she has much too much freedom to remain a woman at all. If only half I have read in books and newspapers about womanhood in the west is true—well I pity the westerners!

The former sultan appears to have been favorable to some reforms being introduced in Turkey, but these reforms, he says, must not be rushed on us. We want to go ahead, but haste is devilish, while leisure and afterthought are divine. He does not approve of young Turks going abroad for any length of time, he fears nothing as much as the poison of European civilization. Beware of ideas that come from the west! They are most dangerous for our country. When I see how happy our Moslems are, I feel I must oppose with all my power the coming of the European new spirit. This spirit poisons our souls and our character. Islam is not unfavorable to progress, but any progress must come from within, not from without.

Dealing with the present conditions of Islam, Abdul Hamid states: The Koran preaches virtue more effectively than any other religious work. Therefore Islam will in time be victorious in the whole world. Our trouble comes from the fact that our empire does not constitute a religious unity. We have too many Christians in our land. Only evil can be expected from the fact that more than one religion reigns in one country. Look what happens in Germany!

The salvation of Turkey can only be in deep religious belief. There lies our future. England, France, Russia are in my hands. One word from my lips will suffice to open a holy war (Tschihad). Then Christian nations will be their doom. That time has not come yet, but it is bound to come when millions of brave Moslems will shake off the yoke of the Glorious—$5,000,000 living in British colonies, 30,000,000 in Dutch colonies, etc. Two hundred and fifty millions pray every day for Allah and the Khalifa. Can one really think that the Moslem is a weak instrument in the hands of nations?

This rather bellicose statement is immediately followed by some thoughts about tolerance in Turkey, which, according to the ex-sultan's opinion, is far greater there than anywhere else. He bitterly criticizes the young effendis, who censure everything that is done in Turkey. These unfair pessimists are our worst enemies he says. Thanks to my secret police, I know exactly where they are to be found. Thank Allah our good people keep far from these eternal sowers of discontent. A real Moslem is always an optimist. The ex-sultan expresses his opinion on slavery as follows:

I have just received a petition from the anti-slavery congress asking me to suppress slavery in Turkey. I am surprised to see how little Europe knows about our customs and habits. How can the patriarchal relationship existing here between masters and servants be called slavery?

The Koran compels us to treat our servants well, and our laws adequately protect the latter against any abuse of power at the hands of their masters. There is no slavery in my empire. A deharleh (maid servant) in Turkey is happier than a maid in Europe. Why curse the slave merchants? They only secure servants for a certain time.

Many an abandoned child, dying of hunger in the street, has found its salvation at the hands of these so-called slave-merchants. Many girls have found good positions in families by this process, and some even have been married by pashas.

STATE HORSES FOR SALE

Motorcars Substituted by New President of France

Paris.—President Poincare has modernized the stables of the Elysee. He has come to the conclusion that in these days of motorcars there is no sense in spending the taxpayers' money on the upkeep of horses, old-fashioned carriages and expensive coachmen.

He has given orders for the sale of all the horses, except four in the stables of the Elysee; has dismissed the head coachman Troude, who on gala occasions, drove the presidential carriage with outriders, and then other coachmen and stable hands.

The four horses which are to be kept will very rarely be used by M. Poincare himself. They are for his wife's pleasure principally. It is not impossible that Mme. Poincare may ride in the Bois as an encouragement to Paris society not to let riding drop out of fashion.

MOURNING IN GREECE

KING OF HELLENES A VICTIM OF ASSASSIN'S BULLET

King George of Greece was shot down on the streets of Saloniki, and Ancient Nation is Plunged in Mourning—Prince Constantine Will Succeed to Throne.

Saloniki.—King George of Greece was assassinated while walking in the streets of Saloniki. The assassin was a Greek of low mentality, who gave his name as Aleko Schinas. He shot the king through the heart. The king was accompanied only by an aide, Lieut. Col. Francoudis. The assassin came suddenly at him and fired one shot from a seven chamber revolver. The tragedy caused intense excitement. Schinas was seized immediately and overpowered. The wounded king was lifted into a carriage and taken to Papafion Hospital. He was still breathing, but died within half an hour.

Prince Nicholas, the king's third son, and other officers hurried to the hospital. Arriving first, Prince Nicholas summoned the officers and speaking in a voice choked with tears said:

It is my deep grief to have to announce to you the death of our beloved king, and invite you to swear fidelity to your new sovereign, King Constantine.

Crown Prince Constantine, who succeeds King George, is at present at Janina. He is expected to come here with all possible speed.

The assassin of the king is an evil looking fellow about 40 years of age. Upon being arrested he refused to explain his motive for the crime. He declared that his name was Aleko Schinas, and, in reply to an officer who asked him whether he had no pity for his country, answered that he was against governments.

Schinas maintained a perfectly impassive demeanor, which was suggestive of his being irresponsible for his actions.

Notwithstanding the rapidity with which the king received attention he was found to be dead on arrival at the hospital. Precautions were at once taken throughout the city and perfect order is being maintained.

The king fell into the arms of his aide when shot. Two soldiers ran up on hearing the firing, and helped to support him. He was placed in a carriage and efforts were made to stop the bleeding, but he breathed his last on the way to the hospital near by.

When Prince Nicholas bade the officers to swear fidelity to Constantine, he shouted, "Long live the King." Prince Nicholas is the only member of the Royal family in Saloniki. Mourning emblems are displayed everywhere.

The Greek government has issued a proclamation announcing that the oath of fealty to King Constantine has been taken.

Since his triumphal entry into Saloniki, the king had been accustomed to take an afternoon walk to the famous White Tower or to the cavalry barracks in Lesser Karaburum. The king's confidence in the people was so great that he went about freely, accompanied only by a single eunuch. The danger of this custom was apparent to the members of his entourage, who repeatedly, but without avail, requested His Majesty to permit the presence of civil guards.

A few days ago four gendarmes were ordered to follow the king but their presence was considered so objectionable by His Majesty that the number was reduced to two. These followed at some distance.

Immigration Figures

Winnipeg.—Although the increase in the immigration into Canada during February was a little less than in the first month of the year, the figures show an increase of 11 per cent. over the corresponding month in 1912. In February, 1913, those entering Canada by way of the ocean ports totalled 6,776 as against 5,389, in the corresponding month last year—in other words an increase this year of 26 per cent. The total arrivals from the United States, on the other hand, shows a decrease of 3 per cent. compared with February, 1912. Last year the total was 5,752, while last month it only reached 5,572.

Canadian Teachers Welcomed to Jersey

London.—Jersey will give a very hearty welcome to the Canadian teachers, if they decide to accept the invitation to visit the Channel Islands this year.

Sir William Vernon, chief magistrate of Jersey, is taking a deep interest in the proposed visit, and arrangements are being made for municipal fetes, a battle of flowers and similar entertainments which are a charming feature of the life of these islands. It is hoped that the visitors may be able to spend a few days on each of these islands, and the authorities and the various municipalities are combining to prepare an extensive programme of hospitality in honor of the Canadian teachers.

BANKERS WITHDRAW

United States Trio Will Not Go Into Loan to China

New York.—As a result of the statement by President Wilson that his administration would not request the American bankers heretofore interested in the negotiations for the six-power loan to China to continue to seek their share of the loan, the three banking houses in the so-called American group announced their withdrawal. The announcement followed a conference of the banking interests concerned at the offices of Morgan and Company.

Settlers Flocking In

Calgary, Alta.—Hundreds of settlers are flocking into the Peace River country, according to the statement of Provincial Publicity Commissioner Charles H. H. H. For the past 30 days every trail leading into the Grande Prairie country has been black with home-seekers, many of whom are taking in with them stock, farm implements and provisions enough to last for a year.

TO SPEND MILLION

Thousands of Which to go to Dominion Parks.

Edmonton, Alta.—Seventy thousand dollars for improvements to Jasper Park, three hundred thousand dollars for improvements to Rocky Mountain Park, Banff Glacier and Yoho Park; twenty-five thousand for the construction of a motor road from Kananaskie to Banff, twenty-five thousand for developments to Banff Park, Wainwright, and fifteen thousand for similar work at Waterton Lake Park.

The foregoing figures, exclusive of the new bath house at Banff, represent the amount to be expended in Dominion Parks during the coming year. Besides these amounts, the Grand Trunk Pacific will construct a tourist hotel which will cost in the neighborhood of three-quarters of a million. It will be located at the Miette Hot Springs.

To Develop Coal Areas

Regina.—Hand in hand with the investigation into the practicability of diverting the water supply in the South Saskatchewan river is also to be instituted an investigation into the feasibility of generating power at the coal mines in Southern Saskatchewan and its distribution into the various centres of the province is also to be considered.

This work has been placed in the charge of A. J. McPherson, who has already arranged with S. M. Darling to install a test carbonizing plant at Estevan to try out a special method of treating the lignite coal to make it suitable for commercial purposes.

The scheme under way is to provide a means whereby this coal can be put on the market to meet competition of the coal from various other sources of supply. If the test proves successful, and Mr. McPherson has every hope that it will, it will be the means of developing the large resources in the way of low grade coal now existing throughout a large part of Saskatchewan. This work is an extension of the findings of the investigation made last year by H. Wynne Roberts, and along the lines which were indicated to be most probably successful.

DOUBT BRITISH SUCCESS

U.S. Experts and Aeroplane Superiority in Britain's Army

Washington.—Aeroplane experts in the War and Navy Departments have scouted the idea that the British army has evolved a flying machine superior to any in the possession of other nations, as announced in the House of Commons by Colonel Seely, British Secretary of State for War. Captain Irvin Chambers, of the Bureau of Navigation of the Navy Department, was inclined to accord aeroplane honors to the French army experts. Officers in the signal corps of the army also expressed grave doubt that the British experts had made any revolutionary discoveries.

CHURCH AND STAGE

Protest Against Cramming Food Into British Suffragettes

London.—At a big public meeting, here strong public protests were registered against the forcible feeding of imprisoned suffragettes. The Bishop of Lincoln, who presided, declared that the suffrage movement was a grand demonstration of moral force against brute force.

Forbes Robertson, the actor-manager, asserted that forcible feeding would not be permitted in America. George Bernard Shaw said it was illegal, but that Reginald McKenna, the Home Secretary, proposed to legalize it by act of parliament.

WEST-IMPORTS STOCK

Decay of Ranching Exemplified by Considerable Imports

Moose Jaw, Sask.—As further evidence as to the decay of ranching in western Canada, J. D. Watson, representing J. A. McIntosh of Great Falls, Mont., has arrived here with 250 head of stock which he brought up from eastern Canada. Previously this year he brought three hundred head to Western Canada from Montana and says there is another thousand head on order to supply the demands of packers and farmers. Last year, he brought 10 train loads of stock to help populate the farms and ranches of Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Bramwell Booth to Come

Toronto.—Bramwell Booth will make his first visit to Canada as commander in charge of the Salvation Army next fall, arriving here about November 1st. He will hold meetings in all important Salvation Army centres, with a special tour of Ontario, and make extensive inspection of the Canadian west with a view to more rapid immigration settlement. He will open new social working buildings at Fort William, Winnipeg and Calgary.

CANADA IN LONDON

FINEST SITE IN METROPOLIS FOR DOMINION GOVERNMENT

Earl Grey Secures an Option on Valuable Property to be Used for Dominion Government Buildings—A Permanent Exhibition of Canadian Products.

London.—The Improvements Committee of the London County Council announces that Earl Grey has asked in consideration of a payment of $15,000 a year, to be granted an option for three years of taking the Strand site on conditions to be hereafter arranged. The area involved is about 124,000 square feet, and is considered to be the finest site for the new Dominion Government building which was proposed some time ago.

We gather, proved the committee, that Earl Grey's object in desiring the option is to secure time to examine the possibilities of using the site for imperial purposes, although he is not in a position at present to define the special character of the uses to which the site would be devoted, as he points out that a decision on so important a question can only be arrived at after full and careful consideration by the Governments of the various self-governing Dominions. In discussing the character of the uses to which the site could be devoted under his scheme, he stated that should these Governments approve it would be possible for them to concentrate the Dominion Government offices, now widely distributed in different parts of London and also to provide accommodation in London for the commercial and social needs of the Dominions.

A feature of the scheme would be to secure a permanent, well kept and up-to-date exhibition of manufactured articles in use in the Dominions, combined with adequate facilities for enabling the home manufacturers to get into direct touch with Dominion customers. Another important effect of the realization of the scheme would be to focus the attention of the home consumer more effectively on the quality of the products of the Dominions.

Warns Outsiders Against Making Rash Rushes

Ottawa.—W. M. Ogilvie, M.E., of Ottawa, son of former governor of Ontario, has just returned from Silver Creek country where there is now a great stampede on. Scores of miners are going north by every steamer from Seattle and Vancouver. Mr. Ogilvie said: "I think it my duty to warn the people on the outside from being stampeded. Nothing has yet been proved and if work this spring is successful there will be lots of time to get in on the ground floor. The alleged discovery was made by Indians, who are poor prospectors and nobody has seen any of the gold they are supposed to have found. Several parties who hiked to the scene told me that they returned without locating claims, the conditions being unfavorable owing to the snow fall."

Strike Fight on Railroad

Philadelphia.—A free fight between 100 strikers and half as many men who were at work during which two trains were stoned, and a track foreman badly injured, marked the strike of the Pennsylvania Railroad trainmen. The fight occurred in Frankfort, a suburb, and continued until the arrival of a squad of policemen. The train passing at the time of the fight had several windows smashed and the crew of a freight train were compelled to seek refuge in box cars.

He pleaded guilty to forgeries by which he defrauded the New York branch of the Royal Bank of Canada out of many thousands. With the aid of a young woman whom he met in New York he spent all of his money in Europe in about a month and returned to New York, where he was arrested.

FAMOUS POLICE CHIEF

Louis Lepine, Prefect of Paris, Resigned After 20 Years Service

Paris.—Louis Lepine, the prefect of police, has resigned after 20 years of service. M. Lepine is 67 years old. After participation in the Franco-German war, he was called to the bar at Lyons, his birthplace, and in 1877 was appointed sub-prefect of the police. From 1888 to 1891 he was chief secretary of the prefect of police at Paris and in 1893 he succeeded M. Loz, as prefect of police.

M. Lepine was noted for his great activity during the troubles in Paris at the separation of church and state when he was continually on duty to suppress disturbances at the churches, which were occupied by militant congregations. He also attracted much attention by the aggressive manner in which he suppressed the gangs of apaches which for a time terrorized Paris, and he took a prominent part in the capture of the motor bandits whose organization was broken up last year.

Virtually every monarch or head of a state in Europe knew M. Lepine personally, for he was present at their arrivals and departures from the French capital and he took sole responsibility for the safety of these men. He was always in the best of the fighting when the recent labor demonstrations were in progress, or when the strikers got out of hand.

THE MARKET REPORT

Weekly Grain Letter Supplied by Thompson, Sons & Co., Grain Merchants, Winnipeg

Winnipeg, March 18.—The leading markets have been moderately active and while today's values are unchanged to a fraction higher than a week ago it has been fairly well indicated that considerable liquidation has been under way. The volume of wheat sold has not been especially large but sentiment has been gradually changing to the bear side under the evident accumulation of stocks and favorable crop reports. With the exception of export business which developed in the United States markets at opportune times to check weakness and inject rallying strength the news has been against holders. It seems hardly possible that Europe will continue to absorb the large shipments sent forward by exporting countries, but during the week Liverpool and Continental markets have held remarkably firm and on the whole have not reflected the weakness on this side. Tight money and peace prospects may curtail purchasing power and cause receding of merchants stocks but so far there is little indication of this as the general political disturbance and war scare madness that has been rampant in Europe for some months is still apparently smouldering and liable to break out again at any time. Apart from a continued export demand holders can only look forward to an impairment in the present almost perfect crop conditions in the United States winter wheat belt. That some impairment will take place either sooner or later is highly probable as according to the Modern Miller report this week the present outlook is the best in years. We give the Modern Miller report in full as we consider it is well worth noting at this time. "Crop conditions over most of the winter wheat belt continue favorable, in many localities the crop is said to be in almost perfect condition, and that there seldom has been a better prospect at the close of winter. The entire winter wheat growing area was practically bare of snow, but there was no cold weather either, and the plant therefore did not suffer. On the contrary the melting of the snow and the rains that fell during the week insure sufficient moisture to carry the plant along for some time. The milder weather has caused the wheat to show green, but there are no noticeable effects of winter killing and the crop is generally considered to be in the best possible condition for the spring season. The plant is hardy, well rooted and growing in a normal way. There are no indications of insect life. Foreign crop conditions have changed materially and nearly all the principal countries of the Eastern Hemisphere are enjoying favorable and seasonable weather. The fully unfavorable condition is in France where there are complaints of the plagues being thin and some damage by vermin. Russia reports that supplies of wheat are varying but generally moderate. An early opening of navigation is expected there. Weekly statistics continue to show a large primary movement in the United States which keeps their visible supply from diminishing to any great extent even with reported export business going on. The world's visible supply according to Bradstreet's, increased 2,565,000 bushels for the week compared to an increase last year of 351,000 bushels. The amount of wheat on ocean passage amounts to 57,544,000 bushels as against 43,128,000 bushels a year ago. World's shipments were about as expected at 19,472,000 bushels. Last week they were 15,778,000 bushels and last year 10,768,000 bushels. Shipments from Russia and Danube are very light but it is expected they will increase as soon as navigation opens.

Future trading in the Winnipeg market has been more active. The difference in price between Minneapolis, Duluth and Winnipeg continues the same as last week and if continued will have the effect of turning export business to the former markets. Cash wheat is in moderate demand, offerings being scarce. Exporters however claim that present values are out of line and consequently are doing no new business. Conditions at the Port William and Port Arthur terminals are somewhat better. The Canadian Northern expect to be unloading cars now at Port Arthur next week as their new storage tanks are almost completed. The Grand Trunk elevators have also been helping the Canadian Pacific Railway to unload some of their cars. Closing cash prices are a shade higher than last week and are as follows: 1 Northern 82½c; 2 Northern 82½c; 3 Northern 82½c; No. 4, 76½c; No. 5, 74½c; No. 6, 72½c; No. 7, 70½c; No. 8, 68½c; No. 9, 66½c;
